- Cheap Shoes Release 2017

This year's Air Jordan 11 72-10 Holiday 2015 release will commemorate the 95-96 Chicago Bulls 72-10 record season.

The Air Jordan 11 will have similarities to the Air Jordan 11 Space Jam but will be featured with Red accents instead of Blue, as well as a iridescent-like glossy patent leather overlay. They will feature a thick premium leather upper build (instead of the traditional mesh), much like the prototype sample pair we seen awhile ago, that will sit atop a traditional Air Jordan 11 translucent outsole.

Other details will also include an embossed Jumpman logo on the back heel instead of embroidered, as well as a Blacked out 23 on the upper heel, along with the classic rope laces, Black/Red carbon fiber and the numbers 72 and 10 on the lace tips. You can also expect another raise in the retail price tag, as they will be set to release at $220 USD. The shoes will come housed in the traditional slide out packaging.

Following the highly demanded Grey colorway of the adidas Yeezy 750 Boost, an upcoming adidas Yeezy 750 Boost Black colorway has already been confirmed by Kanye West.

Advertisement

Kanye first broke the news on a New York radio Power 105.1 Breakfast Club, that a Black version of the Yeezy 750 would hit the market soon, and some are projecting it to drop as early as this Fall/Winter 2015.

There has been no word on how Ye and adidas would use the shade of Black onto the sneaker, but here are detailed photos of how exactly the adidas Yeezy 750 Boost Black colorway will look like. The shoe sports an all-Black suede upper that was originally seen with a White boost sole, but the release version could be a fully Blackout colorway as seen below.
